Experience Matters

Over the years I have used various providers to perform my chiller work. Central Tech Services is, by far, the most reliable and most responsive of anyone I've used. They keep the equipment operating at the original design specs, and have upgraded our capability in some areas. When service is needed, they always respond quickly and the problem is corrected the first time. Because of their knowledge, reliability, and "can do" attitude, I wouldn't consider using anyone else to maintain my cooling plant equipment.
